monumental building and artistic interiors

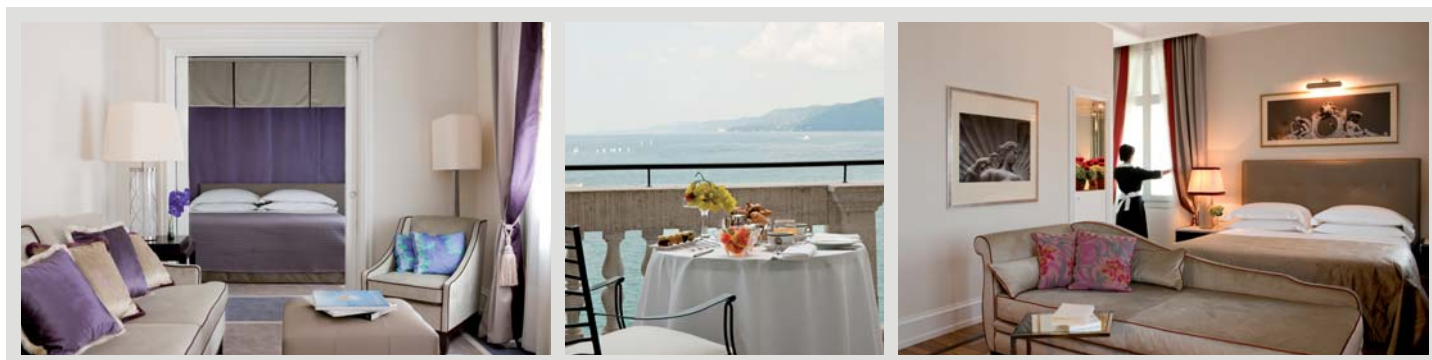

The building has been totally renovated and restored to the grandeur of its original form, whilst becoming more functional. Inside, the walls have been fitted with a boiserie whose classical design and finish generate the warm, welcoming atmosphere of Mitteleuropean interiors. Everything reverberates with the unparalleled sense of luxury of a turn-of-the-century Grand Hotel.

the history

The hotel is a historic building, designed by the Austrian architect Ladislaus Fiedler. It was first opened in 1912, soon to be reputed "the most imposing and luxurious hotel in Austro-Hungary." The facade is decorated with sculptures and columns; its wide balconies overlook the Gulf of Trieste and afford a breathtaking view of the port and the Castello di Miramare.

rooms & suites

The 142 rooms are decorated in a classical style to which a dash of contemporary taste has been artfully added. Sumptuous, elegant fabrics such as leather and silk, Calacatta marble in the bathrooms and pastel wallpaper set the tone. Care has been taken over the minutest detail, from the monogrammed cushions to the bolsters and the matching tassels and fringes. The spacious terraces overlooking the gulf are furnished with sea-view breakfasts in mind. The Cruise Suite is a large 106 sq.m. apartment, decorated in nautical style, in the manner of the master cabin of a large yacht.
